

Outplacement Services

The out placement service is aimed at clients who need to make redundancies and are looking to help their employees find their next opportunity.

It is a service for candidates to help put them in the best position possible to find their next role.

How it works:

The client will offer their employees log-in details and access to consultants so their employees can get themselves in the best possible position to find their next role.

Why it works for the client:

Conspicuous' out placement service is a free service.

As a client, despite letting people go, you are seen to be 'doing the right thing' by them.

By offering this service to any employee who is being made redundant in theory you should avoid bad on-line reviews.

The service to the candidate:
